Objectives: Since false beliefs about God have a profound effect on our feelings, behaviors, and interactions with God and other human beings, this study aims to identify the causes of false beliefs about God. Method: To answer the question, what are the most important factors behind the misconceptions about God? Data were collected through semi-structured interviews with 22 undergraduate female students of Meybod University who were selected through purposive sampling with maximum diversity. The data reached the saturation point after interviewing 18 people, but continued to 22 for confidence. After conducting the recorded interviews and proposing the data, the data were interpreted in an interpretive manner and the initial codes were extracted and categorized based on similarities. Results: Based on the findings of the study, 75 concepts were found in the original coding and 32 categories in the open coding, which were reduced to 52 concepts and 19 categories by eliminating duplicates, which are the causes of incorrect images of god. Conclusion: The authors conclude that some of the causes of incorrect images of god are as follow: From Empiricism in epistemology, information deficits, comfort loving (pleasure seeking), lack of education, inadequacy, etc.

Fafkhar Nooghani, V.

*Hosseini Shahroudi, M.**

Objectives: The present study aims to investigate the possibility and necessity of Imam Khomeini's political lifestyle. Method: The present article is a desk research based on the analysis of the data obtained from Imam Khomeini's works. First, a definition was presented for political lifestyle by outlining the most important factors affecting the realization of political life and then, the feasibility of this style in the political life of Imam was studied. In the next step, the realization of the political lifestyle had been explored through investigating the mystical status of this style. Results: The realization of political lifestyle required the individual's certain intellectual beliefs, recognition of the most important political tasks and goals, and ultimately realization of the style in the political life. In addition, the emotions and environmental conditions of the individual that has a style must have a synergistic relationship with his beliefs and perception of politics. Also, adaptation of the style by the audience and the followers of the individual having the style was the ultimate condition for possessing the style. Conclusion: Imam's political lifestyle was one of the most prominent styles of this area. The realization of style was rooted in his jurisprudential and philosophical

Fundamentals of Cognitive Value of Morality in Nahjalbalagha with a Glance at Task-Oriented School and Ethical Finalism ♦

*Sarлак, A.

*Saeedi, F.

Objectives: The main purpose of the present study is to investigate the achievement of the fundamental cognitive value of ethics from the perspective of NahjalBalagha by realizing these principles and moral criteria based on the teachings of NahjalBalagha. Method: This article is based on foundation data method. Results: According to Fundamentals of cognitive value of morality in moral duty and ethical finalism, there are propositions of normative task-oriented and normative utilitarian ethics in the moral school of Imam Ali. But this does not mean that this moral is fully in line with these two moral perspectives. Conclusion: The research results indicate that the principle of justice and the principle of right have been raised a criterion of the cognitive value of morality in NahjalBalagha. The criteria for realizing establishment of principle of justice are: respect for fairness in human relationships, putting everything in its place, respect for equality among human beings, respect for rights and moderation. And criteria for the establishment of right-seeking principle, consist of implementation of reality and what that is real, true achievement to the reality of things, human authorization and discretion in different matters, taking into account the human entitlement and to expect and demand reciprocal their rights.

To Study the Basis of Abouzid's Interpretive Theory of Understanding the Qur'an ♦

*Kheirjooy, S. **

The truths that the prophets have received through divine revelation are the best way to recognize the truth of existence, and human happiness depends on a more complete understanding of it. Objectives: The main purpose of the present research is to study the basis of Abouzid's interpretive theory of understanding the Qur'an. Method: This research has a descriptive analytical and critical approach. Results: The fundamentals of the interpretive theory of this thinker are based on various hermeneutical tendencies, especially philosophical hermeneutics and various Methods, even Marxism, which has made his views inadequately coherent. He uses empirical methods to create consistency between tradition and modernity, and he refines the concept of revelation and the method of comprehension, so in some cases the word of God is understood by bias. The acceptance of Western hermeneutics without criticism led to the disregard of the inability of the human mind to recognize many things and to reach a limited and insufficient understanding of the meaning of divine words. Conclusion: It is the duty of all Islamic scholars and Muslim scholars to understand Divine Revelation more accurately and perfectly. One should never imagine that the comprehension of the Word of God has come to an end and that all that has been revealed to human happiness has been understood. Therefore, it requires their efforts with all material and spiritual possibilities for

Explaining the Relationship between Opinion and Action in the Epistemological Path of Islamic Architectural Architecture in the Structure of Letters Based on a System-Oriented Approach (Case Study: Letter of Letters of the Bills and Resale of Architecture)

Ashrafi, N. *

Objectives: The present study sought to apply epistemic approaches to the epistemic system of architectural works of the past. For it seems that Islamic architecture in the contemporary era has remained sterile in spite of the multitude of theoretical foundations. Method: The present study, by using analytical-interpretive method and by open, axial and selective three-step coding method of Strauss and Corbin, searches the main components of the native architectural system in the field of view and practice. Results: The realization of Islamic architecture in the past has been accompanied by a system-centered attitude in terms of theory and practice. In other words, the system-centered approach has been a bridge to action. Conclusion: The components of monotheism, guardianship, truth and security as the input of the epistemic system in view and the components of humility, ehsan, conduct and vafa as the function of the natural system as the main factors were the main factors of the realization of Islamic architecture or expression in practice in this field.
